The property

The Tower is the major part of a former corn mill set on the banks of the Stour. Set within a conservation area, the building is thought to have had connections to the local brewery that brought ale to the town.

Considered a fine example of a 19th century industrial building, The Tower now offers more than 3,400 sq ft of accommodation. The current owners have completed a programme of work to provide an impeccably presented and well-functioning home. This unusual townhouse is full of style and character and gives a unique perspective over its surroundings from each level up to the roof terrace which sits atop.

Double doors open to a reception hall off which is a cloakroom. The family room is a stunning space with a barrelled ceiling and a beautifully crafted custom steel spiral staircase depicting hop vines and charming woodland creatures. The neatly fitted kitchen/breakfast room has traditionally styled units, wooden work surfaces, space for a table or island, and French doors to the garden.

The bespoke spiral staircase arrives at a large sitting room with a stove and doors opening to a Juliet balcony. Steps rise to a fitted mezzanine library with a continuation of the custom balustrades. A tall window looks to the river. This level is split and there is second cloakroom as well as a study.

The second floor provides a utility/laundry room, a principal bedroom with en suite shower room, and a further double bedroom with en suite shower room. Three further bedrooms, one with en suite shower room, and a family bathroom can be found on the third floor.

The property's spacious remaining bedroom, with feature vaulted ceiling and exposed beams, can be found on the fourth floor. A substantial ladder and hatch give access to the viewing deck.

Outside

Guesting Mill is set behind a stone wall and is approached over a forecourt, part of which is owned and a parking space.

The well-maintained garden has been landscaped to provide areas of level lawn bordered by well-stocked shrub beds, an ideal environment for entertaining and al fresco dining.

To the rear of the garden a gate provides access to parking for several cars and there is a tandem garage.
