THE UK'S BEST PLACE TO LIVE

Wiltshire's Ancient Jewel

Historic Mompesson House and the beautiful houses of Choristers Square

THE SLENDER SPIRE of Salisbury's medieval Cathedral ascends gracefully over the rolling Wiltshire landscape, the defining landmark for miles around. Dating from 1220, the Cathedral holds one of the surviving copies of the Magna Carta, confirming its place in our nation's story.

Centuries of history run through the veins of this small but world-famous city and its surroundings: nearby site Stonehenge attracts visitors from all over the world; Old Sarum, the original location of the city, is an ancient fortification just outside the centre of modern-day Salisbury; the city centre's network of streets revolves around the Cathedral, which seems to appear between every building and around every corner.

Salisbury was named the UK's best place to live by The Sunday Times in 2019, and offers an unrivalled quality of life, an attractive environment and an excellent range of amenities. Its Purple Flag status signifies the excellence of its evening and night life: the city has a vibrant cultural scene, with the Playhouse and Arts Centre offering varied programmes. The International Arts Festival attracts performers from around the world and takes place in May and June.

There is a delightfully varied choice of shops, from characterful independents to high street names, with a Waitrose near the city centre and the twice-weekly Charter market.

Creative people have been drawn to the city over the years: John Constable painted the Cathedral several times, while Dickens and Hardy took inspiration from its streets. Author Sir William Golding taught at Bishop Wordsworth's School and lived in the Chalke Valley.

Salisbury has many well-regarded schools including Bishop Wordsworth's and South Wilts Grammar Schools (both rated Outstanding by Ofsted), as well as noted independent schools such as the Cathedral School, Leehurst Swan, Chafyn Grove and Godolphin.

ONCE THE CAPITAL OF WESSEX

The Beauty of the Nadder

NETHERHAMPTON is a quiet, pretty community with a village church, nursery school and pub, set in a conservation area, and just three miles from Salisbury city centre.

Its location on the shallow slopes of the Nadder valley lends it a tranquillity and beauty, with the nearby river winding its way sleepily through the broad water meadows down towards the city.

Attractive Wilton – once the capital of Wessex, from which Wiltshire takes its name – has a range of amenities including a small supermarket, bakery, a doctor, dentist, cafés, pubs, a hotel with restaurant and a weekly market. Its identity as a rural community comes to the fore when its Sheep Fairs take place every summer and autumn.

Wilton House has recently been used as a location for the drama series Bridgerton and The Crown and hosts a range of charity events throughout the year, from the Wilton Wake Up classic car shows to the Salisbury Summer Fair. Netherhampton Farm was until relatively recently a part of the Wilton Estate.

The historic Pembroke Arms is also part of the Wilton Estate and was built for visitors to Wilton House in the 18th century, in the time of the 10th Countess of Pembroke, Elizabeth Spencer, one of Princess Diana's ancestors; it now offers stylish rooms and a delicious menu using the best local ingredients.

Salisbury racecourse is the second oldest in the country, with horse racing having taken place on the Race Plain since 1584. It hosts a varied programme of themed race meetings throughout the season. The racecourse and its neighbour the Salisbury & South Wilts golf club are both very close to Netherhampton Farm.

The village of Broad Chalke, with its crystal clear chalk stream and delightful 4-star pub the Queen's Head, was voted one of the best villages to live in in the UK in 2021 and lies just over the hill from Netherhampton. At the Chalke Valley History festival in June, you can try medieval sword fighting, see living history displays and enjoy live music.

Traditional Style, Contemporary Luxury

WELL-EQUIPPED KITCHENS, homely reception rooms and relaxing bathrooms: throughout the development of Netherhampton Farm we have been committed to ensuring that you will get the most out of every aspect of your new home, so we have taken the greatest care in the installation, decoration and finishing of each and every item.

From the hand-cut Lincolnshire stone construction and the innovative biofuel burner to the characterful monkey-tail window latches and the Belfast kitchen sink, everything has been meticulously designed and planned to be just so. Details of the exteriors are designed to echo features of the original farm buildings.

The more traditional features of the properties are complemented by contemporary touches like the luxurious rainfall shower heads, bi-fold garden doors and integrated USB sockets.

Each of the properties at Netherhampton Farm is designed for modern family life – and on many of the units, purchasers will be able to choose their own finishes, depending on the stage of construction.

A REVOLUTIONARY PAST

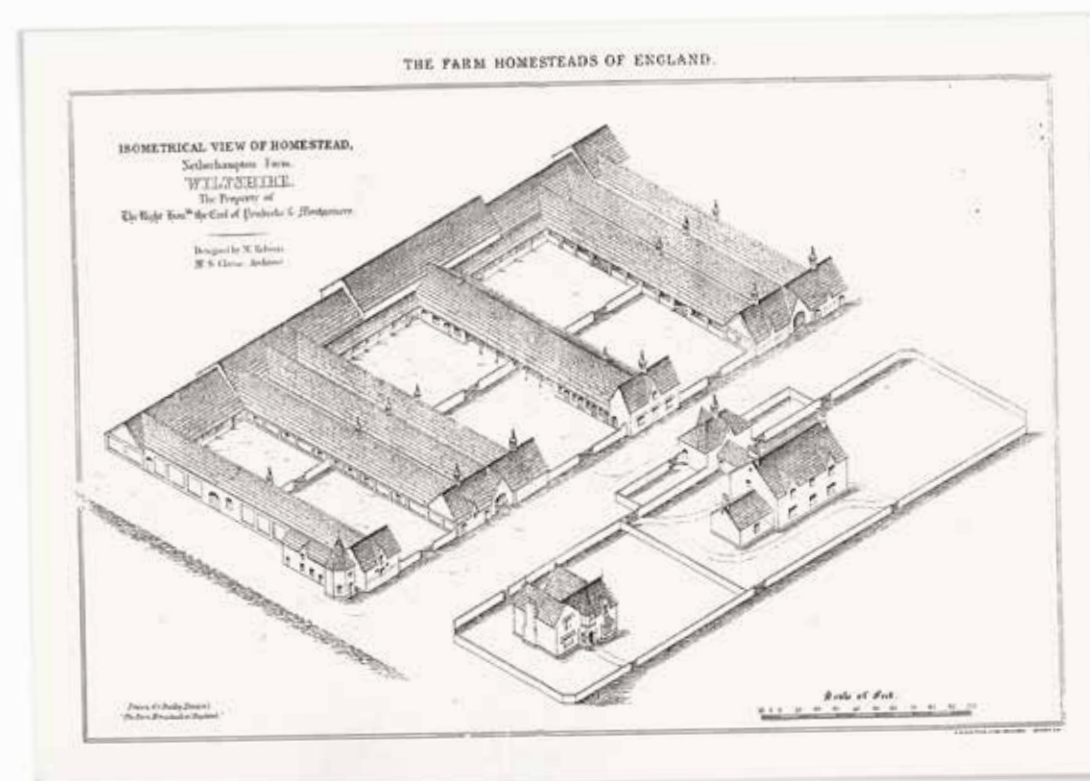

A Long History of Innovation

THE NEW HOUSES at Netherhampton Farm are designed to echo the layout of the original model farm, which was built in the 1840s for the Wilton Estate. Its E-shaped plan is clearly visible on maps of the period.

The design was a new innovation in farming techniques, and the majority of the farm buildings stood the test of time and were still in use well into the 21st century. The farm has the traits of belonging to an estate which was involved in the improvement of agricultural techniques in the 19th century; the buildings were made from good-quality stone and it faced south to catch the sun.

Continuing the tradition of innovation on the site was important in the development of the new Netherhampton Farm, with biodiversity and sustainability playing an important role in the construction and ongoing running of the new homes and management of the landscape and immediate environment.

A plan of the Netherhampton Farm appears in a guide to farms of England dating from 1864.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE

Biodiversity and Sustainability, Built In

NETHERHAMPTON FARM has biodiversity and sustainability at its heart.

The landscaping has been designed by Chelsea Gold Award-winning Landform Consultants, with a brief to feature as many native species of trees and wild flowers as possible in order to attract pollinators and wildlife. The pond and its marginal planting will support biodiversity, as well as collecting run-off water. The green avenue will enhance the distant view of Salisbury cathedral.

All the houses have Scandinavian air source heat pumps – sustainable heating which produces a tiny fraction of the CO₂ emissions of gas or oil central heating. We have also fitted extremely efficient biofuel burners for additional warmth.

These attractive stoves look just like traditional woodburners but burn liquid biofuel, a very efficient, renewable product made from organic waste, which burns with no smoke or odour.

Each property has solar panels to supply electricity for the heat pump and other needs. Generating power individually is an extremely sustainable way to substantially reduce long-term running costs, as well as reducing pollution and keeping the carbon footprint of the development low.

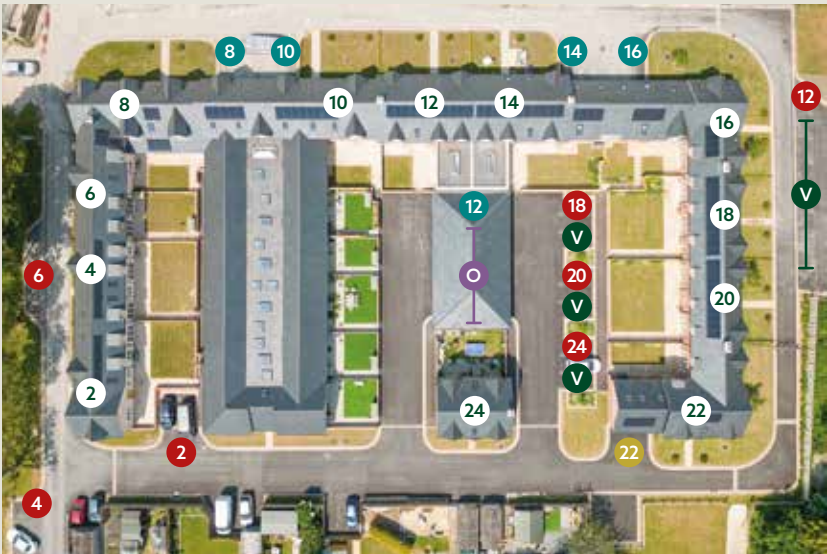

We have taken great care to construct these new homes using traditional materials, such as hand-cut natural Lincolnshire stone, which has a low carbon footprint compared to other building materials.
