The Old Tannery is a delightful Grade II listed detached property offering an excellent opportunity for updating a much loved, but tired village house. Positioned in the picturesque village of Ecchinswell with its many period homes, The Old Tannery was built in the early 19th Century and boasts plenty of characterful period features including sash windows and original fireplaces. The house opens into a formal hallway with reception rooms either side. The ground floor has four spacious and well-proportioned reception rooms including a formal drawing room, comfortable sitting room and dining room. Three of the rooms have open fireplaces and one enjoys French doors leading to a generous and well stocked garden. The kitchen provides plenty of storage space and scope for development with all the necessary consents. There is also a utility room and scullery. From the hall the staircase leads to the first floor and again up to the second floor. On the first floor there are four large bedrooms with the principal bedroom benefiting from an en suite. There is another smaller bedroom on the first floor and a further room on the second floor. All the bedrooms are light and airy and command delightful views. In addition to the main house there is a separately Grade II listed Old Tannery building (approximately 1,800 sq ft) which has served as garaging, workshop and stables with additional amenity space on the first floor. There is also a large agricultural barn of approximately 10,000 sq ft which is subject to an overage development clause. Please ask the agents for further details.
