Sitting room | Kitchen/dining room | Cellar | 4 Bedrooms | Family bathroom | Loft space | Rear courtyard | EPC rating D

The property

Rich with character, this charming Grade II listed property has historic ties and period features, such as the beams and large Georgian windows found throughout.

The front door opens to a generous sitting room with an original fireplace (that could be reinstated), and a kitchen/dining room.

The first floor houses the large principal bedroom, with views over the city rooftops, a second bedroom and the family bathroom. The second floor provides two further bedrooms.

The house also has a large cellar and loft space, offering potential for conversion, subject to any necessary consents.

Outside

The property's classic symmetrical Georgian architecture, with painted brick and timber-framed sash windows, complements the medieval city street. Original pilasters surround the exterior doorway that leads to the entrance of the two neighbouring properties.

There is a small courtyard area just outside the rear door.
