The Property

The house has been a much-loved family home for almost five decades, and has been passed down through the family. Internally it is elegantly presented in a traditional style well suited to the age of the property, with character features including a brick chimney breast housing the Rayburn, sash windows, parquet and tiled floors, and a pretty stained-glass front door. The ground floor is ideally laid out and separates formal living spaces from the family part of the home, with two generous reception rooms at the front to either side of the grand entrance hall, and a warm and welcoming kitchen, study, laundry room and family room to the rear. Upstairs there are five good-size double bedrooms and two bath and shower rooms on the first floor, and a large open loft space on the second floor which offers potential for conversion, subject to obtaining the necessary consents.

Outside

Foundry House has a commanding presence, set behind wrought iron gates. The driveway opens into a generously sized parking area to the side of the house. This leads along the bottom of the garden to a further parking area and a detached building with double garage and two stables. The gardens are a particular feature of the house, being beautifully tended, attractively landscaped and well stocked with a variety of specimen trees, including apple & pear, colourful flowers and manicured lawns. The garden is well enclosed by mature greenery and partly walled for privacy; to the east it borders open farmland.

Separate to the formal garden is a pony paddock and orchard, which, in conjunction with the stabling, could be suitable for equestrian use or for a smallholding.
