The property

22 Marlborough Road is a fine detached Edwardian house, built in 1908. It offers four bedrooms and highly attractive accommodation with various period features, set on one of the best roads in Exeter, in the heart of the desirable and well-connected St. Leonard's suburb. Outside, the property has handsome red brick elevations with splendid protruding bay windows to the ground and first floors, featuring Tudor-style exposed timber framing. Inside, there are traditional fire surrounds, high ceilings and tall windows, welcoming plenty of natural light.

The front entrance opens into a porch, where there is an inner door with beautiful stained glass detailing, opening to the reception hall. There are two main reception rooms on the ground floor. These include the 28ft sitting room and dining area, which stretches from the front to the rear and features ceiling cornicing, a tiled fireplace and space for both a seating area and a family dining table. The drawing room provides further space in which to relax, with its built-in storage and large bay window to the front. Additionally, the ground floor has an open-plan kitchen and breakfast area, with the kitchen featuring farmhouse-style, painted wooden units, an integrated gas hob and space for all the necessary appliances, with the adjoining utility room offering further storage space. There is also a useful W/C.

Upstairs there are four well-presented double bedrooms, one of which is currently used as a study. Two of the bedrooms have original fireplaces, while one also has a sink. The principal bedroom is at the front, with built-in wardrobes and an en suite shower room. There is a family bathroom located at the rear of the first floor, with its bathtub and separate shower unit. Above the bedrooms there is a hatch leading to the large, boarded loft, which provides further storage space and offers the potential for conversion subject to the necessary consents.

Outside

At the front of the property, gates open onto the paved driveway and provide parking space for several vehicles along the side of the house, as well as access to the spacious garage and workshop at the rear, with two separate store rooms. The garage is integrated into the house and could be converted into additional accommodation. The gardens are mostly at the rear and benefit from a west-facing aspect, welcoming plenty of sunlight throughout the afternoon and into the summer evenings. There is a terraced area and paved pathways at the back of the house, with a well-maintained area of lawn beyond. The whole is bordered by high walls and established hedgerows, providing plenty of seclusion and privacy throughout the garden. At the end of the lawn is a timber-framed summer house, which offers further space in which to relax.

Location

Marlborough Road is situated off Magdalen Road, known as 'The Village', in an enviable position in leafy St. Leonards, with a good range of mainly independent local shops, cafes, restaurants and popular pub, the Mount Radford. Exeter is the most thriving city in the southwest, offering a wide choice of cultural activities with the theatre, museum, arts centre and a wealth of decent high street and independent shopping and restaurants, plus a wide choice of supermarkets. Many primary and secondary schools can be found in Exeter, including Exeter School and The Maynard, while Exeter University is recognised as one of the best in the country. The M5 motorway at Exeter provides links to the A38 to Plymouth or the A30 to Cornwall to the South and Bristol and London to the North and East. There are regular rail services to London Paddington from Exeter in just over two hours. Exeter International Airport provides an ever-increasing number of domestic and international flights including flights to London City.
