The property

With decorative tiles and redbrick elevations, Little Woodhouse is an attractive home which offers the perfect opportunity to acquire an established property, which will inspire for additional evolution.

A storm porch at the threshold provides sheltered entry into an entrance hall featuring wood flooring, with a beam-framed aperture leading directly to one of the five versatile-use reception rooms. The sitting room is centred around a charming stone fireplace with wood-burning stove, whilst glazed double doors lead through to a generous, double aspect living room with classically crafted display shelving and storage. External doors offer a seamless link to the terrace and, continuing the free-slowing layout, a dining room adjoins providing a formal space for entertaining with French doors extending the inside to the outside environment. A cosy snug, a study niche and a light-filled garden room complete the picture of flexibility offered by this adaptable home.

Airy and bright, the sociable kitchen is fitted with modern units, topped with stone work surfaces, with an open plan layout enabling an easy link into a roomy breakfast area. An adjacent utility offers a hideaway for laundry items, and its external door allows outdoor wear to be cast off and stored in this useful ancillary space.

A wooden stairway rises to a spacious landing which gives access to the upper-level sleeping quarters. Rooms comprise five bedrooms, two with well-appointed en suite facilities, and a modern family bathroom. The principal room is vast, with lengths of fitted wardrobe storage, as well as entry to eaves storage beyond the en suite.
