The property

A heritage former gate lodge which was designed by Robert Lutyens for legendary racing driver and former owner of Bentley Motors, Captain Joel Woolf Barnato. This architectural masterpiece features white-painted elevations, louvred shutters and an ornamented, classic stone entrance portal, whilst inside the exquisite, contemporary living environment will indulge present-day requirements.

The interior enhancements have seen the creation of a light-filled, stylish home with ground floor reception areas comprising a stunning drawing room with bay window recess and French doors to the garden; an adjoining sitting room where light floods inside via a skylight, and a tucked-away study offering a quiet refuge. Filled with natural light, the kitchen/breakfast room boasts a wall of glazed sliding doors that blur the boundary between inside and outside and provide a seamless transition to a terrace. This convivial space is fitted with sleek cabinetry, stone work surfaces and integrated appliances, with a large island unit forming a subtle divide to the relaxed dining area. The ground floor further comprises a cloakroom, and a shower room adjacent to the sitting room, which could be utilised as a bedroom if required.

The first floor is arranged to provide four bedrooms with fitted storage and a luxuriously-appointed family bathroom. The sumptuous principal bedroom provides a refined retreat with access to a modern en suite shower room and also to a secluded decked balcony.

Outside

The rear garden at North Lodge offers a visually-pleasing formal design layout featuring manicured low and high level hedging, topiary shrubs, a paved terrace (with optional cover) adjoining the house, a further patio setting under the dappled shade of majestic trees, and a covered hot tub 'garden room'. Pathways offer a journey through this outdoor sanctuary and well-maintained areas of lawn offer a cool, soft-surface framed by beds filled with colourful and structural planting.

Vehicular gates set within the external wall provide access to the attractive gravelled courtyard to the front of the home, with parking for several cars. A separate wrought-iron pedestrian gate opens onto a paved pathway leading to a secondary entrance door and the rear garden.
