The property

Hayne Barton is a picturesque, detached cottage with Grade II Listed status, located in the small rural village of Stowford, within view of the historic parish church and overlooking rolling countryside. The property is thought to date from the early 17th century and bears all the hallmarks and characteristics of a historic building, including exposed timber beams and original fireplaces, which are combined with elegant, understated modern styling and fittings. The porch provides entry into the dining room at the front of the house, with its flagstone flooring, painted timber beams, inglenook fireplace and bread oven. A door adjoins the dining room to the sitting room, which provides plenty of space in which to relax. It features a fireplace with a woodburning stove and is dual aspect, allowing a wealth of natural light. French doors open onto the pretty front garden and terraced area, suitable for al-fresco dining. There is a study towards the rear for private home working, with potential for use as an additional bedroom. The ground floor also includes a spacious kitchen and breakfast room. There are farmhouse style units and an Aga, a walk in pantry, and space for a breakfast table for everyday dining. Further space for home storage and appliances can be found in the utility room and boot room at the rear. There is also a W/C. Upstairs there are three well-presented double bedrooms, including the principal bedroom, which has an en suite bathroom, built-in wardrobes and a window seat with far reaching views. The two additional bedrooms are en suite, one with a shower room, while the other has a bathroom with an over-bath shower.

Outside

At the front of the property, the driveway provides access and parking, leading to a detached garaging block with a garage, carport, and an adjoining studio or office. Stairs rise to a large first-floor storage room, offering potential for conversion (subject to the necessary consents). The garden lies mainly to the front, enjoying a sunny south-west aspect with views across the surrounding fields. It features a paved terrace, lawn bordered by colourful beds, a vegetable garden, a second lawned area, and a greenhouse. To the rear, a gravel courtyard provides access to the boot room entrance and additional parking space.

Location

Hayne Barton is set in the small and quiet village of Stowford, nestled in the beautiful Devon countryside between the towns of Launceston and Okehampton. The village and surrounding area has excellent walking, cycling and riding routes. There is a parish church and hall, while the nearby village of Lewdown has a post office and a primary school. Lifton Village has an award winning farm shop, pubs and restaurants and other facilities. Seven miles away, the Cornish town of Launceston provides a range of further amenities, including various shops and supermarkets, and a choice of restaurants and cafés. Okehampton is 11 miles away, with its weekly farmers markets, high street and independent shops, leisure facilities and golf course. Secondary schooling is available in Launceston, Tavistock and Okehampton, including the outstanding-rated Okehampton College. Launceston also has the independent St. Joseph's School. Dartmoor National Park is within easy reach, as well as the striking North Cornwall coastline. The area is well connected by road, with the A30 just two miles away, while Okehampton's mainline station provides services towards Exeter and further on to London Paddington (approx. 2 hours 50 minutes).
